MMP Tax nominated for hat trick of SME National Business Awards

for immediate release

Publish date: 21 November 2022

A hat trick of SME Award nominations means Christmas could come early for specialist technology tax advisor MMP this year.

Recognising the achievements of UK-based businesses with 250 employees or less, the winners of the 2022 SME National Business Awards will be revealed at an awards ceremony on Friday 02 of December at London's prestigious Wembley Arena.

With each entrant to the competition limited to three nominations, MMP has received the maximum nominations permitted. Of the 18 categories up for grabs, MMP will be competing for London Business of the Year, Employer of the Year and Business of the Year Less than 50 Employees.

Having had a successful 12-months supporting innovative businesses in accessing the government incentives available to them MMP Tax Director, David Marshall, will be attending the December awards ceremony along with one of the company's specialist technology consultants, Rimaz Rameez.

Speaking of the announcement, David Marshall, commented: "MMP is delighted to be nominated for these 2022 SME National Business Awards. To have been shortlisted and received the maximum of three category nominations is testament to the quality of service we have consistently provided to our innovative clients and the dedication of our employees to provide a superior personal service throughout the year."
